

Blanding LDS Churches

One main and important aspect of our lives here. We want our religious freedoms maintained; we would like to live among neighbors with the same values and ideals, not necessarily the same religion.

Churches always enhance quality of life in any community and the chapel are beautiful.

Most families in the area have high values that support a good community and help raise good children.